

Music THERAPY

- Prepares students by providing both an intensive study of music as well as an understanding of the behavioral and natural sciences
- Provides opportunities for research as well as clinical exposure sophomore through senior years
- Culminates with a six-month internship at an AMTA approved facility.

Accredited by the American Music Therapy Association (AMTA), National Association of Schools of Music, and the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia.*

 Provides eligibility to take the national certification exam administered by the Certification Board for Music Therapists (CBMT)*

For more information:

music@radford.edu 540-831-5177

www.radford.edu/music

RADFORD UNIVERSITY

Department of Music

Radford University's Department of Music offers major degree programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels and a minor in music at the undergraduate level. Many undergraduate music courses are also open to students whose primary interests are in other fields.

The undergraduate professional program in the department of music offers opportunities for students to prepare for careers as teachers of music in elementary, middle and secondary schools, for careers in music therapy, for careers in music business, and for advanced professional graduate study. The undergraduate liberal arts program offers opportunities for the study of music irrespective of specific career aspirations, for emphases which may meet the needs of individual students, and for preparation to study music at the graduate level.

The master of arts program provides advanced study for musicians and music scholars for preparation of professional careers or doctoral study. The master of science program provides advanced study and opportunities for music therapists to refine existing competencies and to attain new ones.

The department provides and promotes music activities for the university and community, and provides instruction and experiences in music for majors and non-majors, enhanced by multi-cultural/global perspectives and the benefits of new technology.

RadfordARTS

rucvpa

RADFORD UNIVERSITY

College of Visual and Performing Arts

NASM
Accredited

CAEP Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation

