

Rainbow Gets Girls Ready for Life

Have you ever wished that you had more confidence?

Are you interested in helping others, but not sure how?

Would you like to be more of a leader, or a better one?

If you answered yes to any of these questions and are between the ages of 10 and 20, you should join the International Order of the Rainbow for Girls. It's fun, rewarding, and you'll make lots of new friends. But most importantly, Rainbow Girls will help you to become the best daughter, community member, and friend you can be!

Being a Rainbow Girl gives you the awesome power of knowledge - to know right from wrong and to be able to make decisions by using your head and your heart, instead of being a victim to peer pressure. You'll attend monthly meetings that are run by girls just like you, make friends from around the world, and experience how great it feels to volunteer in your own community. You may even get the opportunity to travel. As a result, the confidence and leadership skills you gain will continue to open doors for you through school, into college, and with your future career.

So What is Rainbow

The International Order of the Rainbow for Girls is a dynamic organization that has played a vital role in cities and towns, large and small, since 1922! School activities and sports teams are a great way to learn certain skills, but Rainbow is an international organization that can help girls in ways that other groups can't. Whether your dream of becoming a veterinarian, a professional musician, a teacher, or a mother, Rainbow will help you learn that you can accomplish anything and that you can make a difference!

In addition to volunteering countless hours of community service, members raise hundreds of thousands of dollars each year for world-class and local charities, such as Stomp Out Bullying, Habitat for Humanity, the Wounded Warrior Project, and Dolly Parton's Imagination Library. Through working and sharing together, members grow in many ways. Your confidence grows. Your public speaking ability is sharpened. Most importantly, you have fun and make new friends that last a lifetime.

What Will My Daughter Learn?

She will learn the power of knowledge - to know right from wrong and to be able to make decisions by using her head and her heart instead of peer pressure. She'll get the opportunity to travel and meet new people - creating friendships that will last a lifetime. While the day-to-day tasks and events will be fun, your daughter will learn the joy of making the world a better place through volunteering in her community.

While research shows that students who volunteer tend to be more well-rounded, productive people, Rainbow service projects and challenging workshops allow girls to network and meet with professionals for solid guidance - the perfect way for your daughter to experience different areas of work, making it a lot less overwhelming when she chooses a career path.

In 1922, Rainbow was created for young women whose fathers were members of the Masonic Lodge, and any of their friends. Although a Christian minister named W. Mark Sexson founded the organization, today the leaders of Rainbow Girls respect and welcome all girls from every religion. Their main focus is more on the spiritual principles of being a kind and caring person. While the Rainbow practices and programs continue to evolve, the basic teachings of faith, hope, and charity remain a cornerstone of this dynamic girl's youth group.

The International Order of the Rainbow for Girls uses fun events and challenging workshops to help girls learn important life skills. Members learn that the big dreams they had as little girls are within reach when they put their heart and soul into achieving them.
